

Dear colleagues:

Here is some additional information on the refunding of travel costs:

The "Stiftung Volkswagenwerk", Germany, will pay for your stay at Bernried (except beverages), and will reimburse your travel costs provided those costs lie within reasonable bounds. (Otherwise, there might be a partial refunding only.)

In general, all land travel (train, bus, or car) will be paid, usually up to the costs of a 2nd class railway ticket (1st class for lecturers, tutors, and guest speakers). Arriving by airplane is considered normal for non-continental Europe (U.K., Ireland, Israel). I was not able to find out whether there might be real problems with other participants coming by plane, but I guess that there won't be problems with cheap flights (which can be used since the Summer School both starts and ends on a weekend, and often are not more expensive than a train ticket). Please keep all your tickets (including those for the S-Bahn in Munich). During the first week, a specialist will help you to fill in the forms. (Goodness, it always needs a specialist with those forms!)

Please note that immediate reimbursement (cash) is possible only in exceptional cases (e.g., socialist countries); the usual way is that the money will be transferred to your bank account at home.

Be prepared, please, that about twenty participants will have to stay in double rooms, since the supply of rooms is limited. Also, most rooms are not equipped with a shower, but have shared shower facilities on the same floor. - There will be enough rooms for group discussion, and a lecture hall. Both are short on desks, so please have a book or ledger ready to write on.

The telephone number of Kloster Bernried is (West Germany, usually 0049) - 8158 - 2061. Please do not use that number except in case of emergency, and only between 8.15-8.45 (breakfast), 12.15-12.45 (lunch), or 18.30-19.00 (dinner). In the hall of Kloster Bernried is a pay phone, and there are two public telephone booths, and the postal office, only a few minutes away.

For sports, there is a park (6 km along the lake) for walking and jogging, a private beach with cabins, and table-tennis in the park. Boats can be rented at a place 5 minutes from the Kloster. The Kloster has a library, and for the evening, a wine cellar. Have a good time!

I have enclosed copies of two papers by Baddeley and by Jones, since these might not be available everywhere.

Looking forward to meeting you at Bernried,
